

Don Alberto posted in fb TDJF am 9. 1. 2019 ca. 15:45:

In forums (like this one, too) DJs quite often ask questions like “what kind of sound card do you use, which players, equalizers, music labels ... work best?”, etc. and hoping for stimulation to improve their equipment and workflow aiming for a better sound. Due to this fact, two DJs teamed up to build a website concerning these questions and trying to systematically list this kind of information.

The purposes of this website are:

- DJs aiming for good sound receive a profile on a dedicated DJ list.
- DJs aiming for good sound give detailed information on their setup.
- Beginner and advanced DJs find inspiration to improve their work.
- Event organizers find support in locating DJs who provide good sound.

Maybe you are interested to visit this website for either registering to the list and publishing your data or just to find useful information for yourself.

There is no financial interest involved and your data will never be given to third parties. The mission is just about good sound in Tango dance events worldwide. And the website could be developed further. Let's make good sound for this beautiful music! Best wishes and happy DJing.

<https://tangodjsforgoodsound.info>

Gefällt mir 10x

Bemerkungen:

Andy Ungureanu How often do I need to enter the data until it is saved?

Don Alberto If you need support, please use the official contact of tangodjsforgoodsound. They will come to you shortly.

El Espejero Doesn't work. Tedious entering of all the equipment details, etc. results in no result.

Clive Harrison Me too!

Don Alberto Please stay constructive: 18 DJs so far had no problems to add data. If this is not your experience please contact: <https://tangodjsforgoodsound.info/contact/>

El Espejero Don, if I wanted to stay constructive, I would've started a small conversation on lossy vs. lossless. Here I only stay objective and report a problem with the registration process. Thank you.